THIS ARTIST'S conception shows the proposed layout of the polythene plant to be built in Edmonton. Incoming natural gas from the Leduc oil field will be converted into ethylene in the ethylene plant (1) with its associated cracking furnaces (2), compressor house (3), and control room (4). Polythene produced from this ethylene in the main reactor building (5), will be transferred to the warehouse (6), for packing and shipment. The other main buildings on the works site comprise the administration offices (7), personnel block (8), stores and repair shops (9), power house (10), water cooling tower (11), and water purification plant (12).

Plan to Build Five New Schools In Sturgeon School Division in '52

In an attempt to modernize and make adequate the school room facilities in the Sturgeon School Division, the School Board has decided to build five new schools and make additions and completions to five others. It is planned to sell debentures totalling about $365,000.00 to finance the work.

Under the plan new schools will be erected at Legal, Horse Hill, Bon Accord, Alcomdale and Calahoo. Schools at St. Albert, Dunrobin, Gibbons, Pt. Saskatchewan and Noman are to be completed.

It is reported that Legal needs new accommodation to replace the five rooms now being rented. These rooms will not be available to the school division after 1952. At present basement rooms are being used, and these are not satisfactory for the health and comfort of teachers and students.

A new High School is planned for rural students in the Horse Hills area. New schools at Bon Accord, Alcomdale and Calahoo are also required.

SCHOOL BOARD MEET COUNCILS

On January 9 a meeting of the school board and members of the councils of the Municipal Districts of Sturgeon and Morinville was convened to acquaint the municipalities with needs of the school division. This also was intended as the reorganization meeting of the school board for the new year, but due to illness Mr. Messier of Legal was unable to attend, and Mr. Ross of St. Albert was indisposed due to the tragic death of his brother. Consequently, another school board meeting was called for January 16 and 17.

The meeting with the Reeves and councillors took place at the school division office in Morinville. Needs of new school buildings and the 1951-52 financial budgets were discussed. The school division pointed out that in order to help the municipal districts keep the mill rate to the minimum last year estimates of the division had been below the figure which, as it turned out, was actually required as a minimum.

This was done to enable the municipalities to qualify for the grant which is given only if no increase is made in the mill rate.

As a consequence, the school division experienced a serious deficit in 1951 which they feel will have to be made up in the new estimates.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICTS SET MILL RATE

For the information of ratepayers and other readers of this paper, it is pointed out that the school divisions do not set the mill rates. This is done by the municipal districts. But the school divisions present the MD councils with estimates of their costs and as school expenses make up such a large portion of the tax rate, they do, to a large extent, determine the mill rate in an indirect manner.

SCHOOL DIVISION OFFICERS

At the first regular meeting of 1952, held January 16 and 17 Paul Chauvert of Legal was re-appointed chairman. Arthur McCue of Gibbons will again be vice-chairman. Signing authorities are the chairman, Nell M. Ross and Secretary Meaden.

The board authorized the secretary to engage a full time assistant when necessary. Mrs. Helen Ross of Morinville has been appointed to this position.

Dr. Brown Speaks At Home And School

ST. ALBERT — The Home and School met last Wednesday. In spite of the cold weather about 25 members were present to hear speaker, Dr. Brown, the new doctor of the Sturgeon Health Unit. The former Sturgeon unit has been divided in two—Sturgeon and Strathcona. Dr. Selmans has taken over the Strathcona division.

Dr. Brown in his talk explained his duties, problems and work. He hopes to inspect and give medical check-ups to all the junior grades and as many of the other grades as possible.

He would like to increase the immunization of the pre-school children—only one-third of them are taking advantage of the clinic services. The nurses are in St. Albert Junior school from 10 a.m. to 12 noon every third Wednesday. The Home and School meetings are in the new school the evening of every third Wednesday.

Shower For Bride-Elect

ST. ALBERT — A shower was given for Phyllis Belcourt Thursday evening. About 25 ladies ventured out in the cold. The party was organized by Doreen Iscke and Victoria Logan.

The gifts were drawn in on a decorated wagon pulled by Phyllis' two little sisters, Rosemary and Joyce.

Phyllis graciously thanked all for coming and for the many useful and lovely gifts.

Phyllis Belcourt and Harry Hellerose were married on Thursday, Jan. 24.

Donna Busache had a few little friends in on Sunday to help her celebrate her tenth birthday.

Special Committee Named

BARRHEAD — A special committee of members of Christ Lutheran Church, Barrhead and district, has been named to organize the local phase of the "Conquest for Christ" Lutheran expansion program. It was announced this week.

Five thousand of the Lutheran Christ-Missionary synd., an international church body, have voted to raise $10,000,000 to promote their world-wide mission program and to expand facilities for training teachers and ministers.

The request for "Christ" as the expansion endeavor has been designated, will be achieved through the voluntary gifts of the 1,810,000 members of the church body, according to the Rev. Behn, Barrhead and Rev. Scheinbl, Mellowdale.

Want Legion To Direct Civil Defence

MORINVILLE — The Municipal District of Morinville feels that preparations for Civil Defence in view of the present unsettled world condition are very important. The council would like to see forward steps taken in this district and has suggested that the local branch of the Canadian Legion direct the work.

Being Prepared

There is nothing but common sense and good judgment in the nations of the world being prepared for eventualities with regard to the Soviet Republics. There are too many signs that the Communists in Moscow are not planning any above board policy of peace. Until the Western world stands ready and fully armed for any sudden attack, it would be the height of folly to reduce the efforts that alone secure safety and spell the necessity of being prepared.

The Soviet statesmen, if they can be called by the name, instead of Communist thugs, are quite plainly engaged in a policy of bleeding the Western nations white with preparations for a threatened war. When the point of despair has been reached, Moscow will act openly and, like a vulture fly to the kill. That is clearly the picture in Moscow's mind.

But the Western world is not likely to falter or fall down in its economy, or its preparation for defence. Whatever the cost or sacrifice will be, the free nations must rearm to meet a wicked and deceptive foe.

British publications are stressing the thought that the Churchill government's steps to strengthen the program for re-armament, and to re-establish the national home guard, are signs that the west realizes the risk of war with Russia has not diminished. It is wisdom to be Prepared.

With Winston Churchill back in power, and resuming his world-famous trips abroad in the interests of world security, the famous Churchillian "V" for Victory sign and the ever-present Churchill cigar are signs of confidence to a troubled world.

Ornithopter and Snallygaster

A recent editorial in this paper told about a new flying something or other at Medicine Hat that was called the ornithopter. Now comes word from Baltimore that the ornithopter is just an attempt to copy the snallygaster, which was famous in Maryland some twenty years ago.

The main difference between the ornithopter and the snallygaster is that the snallygaster is a creature and the ornithopter a mechanical whastit. Maryland's snallygaster beat its wings, rode a bicycle and uttered strange, low snallygasterian cries, according to the old reports, which are being retraced today. The snallygaster also had a habit of raiding moonshine stills in the North Maryland country, which vocation the ornithopter cannot hope to pursue, being a mechanical contraption.

Marylanders, these days, are making snide remarks about the ornithopter and saying they had a flying whastit some twenty years ago. The ornithopter, they say, is just a cheap imitation of the original snallygaster, and the argument goes on in the newspapers. Whether you prefer the ornithopter or the snallygaster—that is the question, if anyone cares.

A Thorny Problem

One of the most difficult problems to contemplate faces parliament before another general election can be called by Ottawa. This is the redistribution problem, which will likely have to be tackled during the next session of parliament.

The electoral quota for each constituency now is reported to be 53,585, on the basis of the census of population for 1951, of $13,893,208, giving a house of 262 members. There are instances where constituencies must be merged and others divided, and countless arguments and objections are sure to be heard regarding the decisions of the electoral committee when it gets to work.

It will be a task of giants to satisfy all parties, and it is not likely such a result will be achieved, even with the very best of intentions and the wisest policy of compromise. What interests Alberta, however, is that this province's representation will be increased by at least one member. Saskatchewan's will be reduced by about one.

The west is not gaining in representation as rapidly as is hoped, but the way is slow and the inequalities between the populous east and the less populated west will some day be more fairly dealt with.

Monkey Wrench in the Oil Well

By T. W. PUE

This story is being circulated as being absolutely true. Someone claims it happened, but whether in Alberta, Texas or Venezuela I don't know.

T. W. PUE

We don't need this monkey wrench or you any more. You're fired—and take the d— thing with you.

"Well, if I'm fired," said the sober faced Roughneck, "I don't need it any more either."

So he threw the wrench back in the hole and walked off the job.

One is from Mrs. M. A. Bettin, former local editor of the Beiseker Times, whose boy-and-girl twins smile happily beside a picture of a portly Santa Claus attempting to get into a much smaller chimney. The Bettin family has moved to live in British Columbia. These twins, well known in Beiseker, are inseparable. You couldn't make one cry, when they were younger, without the other crying too. You couldn't get one to go anywhere without the other. Always together they are always happy; separate them and they're inconsolable.

ASTONISHING BACHELOR FACTS

Some interesting facts about Alberta bachelors have come to light in the news columns of some of our papers. For instance, the Morinville Journal reveals that Maurice Montpellegie of Morinville is the lucky winner of a Canadian-Irish sweepstakes. And Maurice an eligible bachelor too, our reporter adds!

The Happy Circle W.I. in Mannville was reported in the Mannville Mirror as having prepared three Christmas hampers for local district bachelors. Hum—the way to a man's heart is through his stomach.

George Wongrenluk, reporting in the Onoway Westerner says there are more bachelors per square mile in Rich Valley than any other district in Alberta. What are you girls doing in the city this year, we'd like to know? Just because you get $200 per month for working 32 hours a week, spend six weeks in Florida or California every year and drive a Cadillac to work is no reason why you should snuff your chances by not spending some time this year in Rich Valley?

TOUGH DRIVING

According to a recent report in the Lamont Journal, sent in by our Chipman correspondent, the highway there is a graveyard of ditched automobiles.

Between Chipman and Edmonton on Highway 15 recently a motorist counted 48 rats in the snowbanks and ditches showing where cars have slipped in. This is some indication of the icy condition of the roads, believed to be the worst in some years.

Note and Comment

No matter what happens, always be yourself. Nobody is so miserable as he who longs to be somebody other than the person he is in body and mind.—Angelo Patri.

Alberta has acquired a reputation for quality poultry products. The provincial department of agriculture advises that only well-finished birds should be marketed if this reputation is to be maintained. Right now too many unfinished birds are getting to market.

It is really funny how little value other people place on your time.

Answering letter to Voice headed "Suds In Your Eye", here's a poem I clipped from the Ottawa Citizen, Dec. 17:

He smiled and he murmured, "LUX with me," As the beautiful PRINCESS he spied; He thought of a scheme to SURPRISE her, And hoped she WOODBURY her pride.

"You think that my head's sold IVORY, But you don't get the 'DREFT' dear," he sighed; "If I had you to COMFORT and CHER me, I would e're be a SURF by your side."

"May I hold your PALMOLIVE?" he whispered, But by now she was fit to be TIDE; She angrily said, "VEL—that DUZ IT! Not on your LIFEBOUY," she cried.

ELIZABETH ON TV

I didn't agree with your letter to Lizzie, I wouldn't be in her shoes on a bet. We followed her around on television from the time she arrived in Canada, through to her visit to Washington. She came off the big plane from Montreal and when coming down the steps looked back to see if Philip was there. Sure enough—he was right behind her. She seemed at ease as she replied to the address of welcome given her at Washington Airport by the President. She was very lovely and very human.

SHOULD WE TELL HIM?

I am anxious to secure information about life in Alberta. My wife and I are sailing for Canada in March 1952. We would like to get as much information as possible beforehand. We are inclined towards going to Edmonton but wish to obtain more information as to prices, employment opportunities, housing, etc. An information you or your readers can send me will be appreciated.

For some reason or other we haven't received our copy of the Lac la Biche Herald since the Municipal plan for M.D. Athabasca came into effect. Please start sending it at once since we miss it very much when we don't get it. We enjoy your editorial page and your paper is certainly improving.

STUDENT PROTESTS

Professors are always yapping about academic freedom, but why don't they practice what they preach? For instance, to take science and economics you also must take algebra and geometry. It's like buying one package of Itsy Bitsy corn flakes, and being forced into a tie-in rate of 1,000 packages of Break Jaw breakfast food. Down with algebra!

AGAINST DOUBLE PARKERS

As a visitor to Edmonton, I wonder why any of your citizens should have sympathy for the double-parker. Such people have no consideration for the rights or lives of others. Edmonton police should confiscate double-parked cars, not just fine those responsible.

Magazine Describes "Bad Lands" Of Drumheller Valley, Home of Dinosaurs

The story of the Red Deer Valley, "the richest dinosaur graveyard in the world," and "the most paintable valley in Canada," is told in full in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Assistant editor Barbara Moon visited the Drumheller area to gather material at first hand about the area, which she calls "Dinosaur Valley, Alta".

Photographs in full color accompany the article.

Miss Moon writes: "Drumheller... has appropriated to itself the honor of being Gateway to the badlands. It points out with sweet reasonableness that it's the only city actually in the valley... Hanna, on the plains to the northeast, and Brooks, to the southwest, have both made tentative passes at the Gateway title, but so far Drumheller is away ahead on points."

"The Red Deer badlands are generally acknowledged to boast the thickest concentration of dinosaur bones in the world," the Maclean's article reports, adding "the Russians of course challenge this claim."

The article traces the colorful history of the region and pays tribute to the work of Wilfred Garstang-Hodgson, who carved juniper roots into prized sculptures.

His sore spot with Drumheller's Mayor John Mackay, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is the valley's "skimpy tourist trade," Miss Moon writes. "In spite of highly colored broadsides from his office and from the Alberta Government, only a few hundred trippers trickle into the valley each year."

Blame Lack Highway Maintenance For Accidents

MAVERICKHORSE—Residents of this district blame the condition of the Edmonton highway for the flood of accidents, resulting in at least one death, which have engulfed this district. It is claimed that the high maintenance could roughen up the icy surface of the road and scrape the loose ice to the side of the road.

Now the highway is deeply rutted in most places with smooth slabs ice on the surface, making it difficult for trucks and motorists to avoid hitting on-coming traffic.

Two New Groups Added To Alberta Civil Defence

Two new local organizations have been added to the growing list of municipalities that are civil defence conscious. The new groups that have set up civil defence organizations and the names of their controllers are: Municipal District of Provost No. 52, S. T. Payne, controller; and Town of Howness, Daniel P. Gillan, controller.

IS YOUR FARMING ENTERPRISE LARGE ENOUGH?

By GEORGE WENGRENICK

RICH VALLEY—In every country in the world, in every century of man's progress it has been the tiller of the soil who has carried the weight of civilization. Here in Canada it is even more true. In Alberta the sale of barley alone is equal to the total production value of our famous oil fields. The foundation of our economy, the very structure of our national life is built upon the industry, initiative and toil of men who produce food for the nation and for the peoples of the world.

The modern Canadian farmer must not only have a strong back, he must have a good education and above all be a good business man, because of the greater capital investment. This brings me to one of the many factors which will eventually lead to a better understanding of the whole farming enterprise and in this way to continual improvement, greater efficiency and higher profits. The factor that I will deal with in this issue is, "Is your farm large enough to fully utilize the family labor?"

Here is a guide in determining labor requirements on Canadian farms. Work days required for each farm enterprise is listed below.

Cattle—	Per animal
Dairy cows, fluid milk	15
Dairy cows, milk for manufacture	12
Beef cows or feeder steers on farm	3 1/2
All other cattle on farm	2
Ranch cattle, all ages and classes	1
Hogs—	Per animal
Broad sows	3
Market pigs	1/2
Sheep—	Per animal
Breeding stock	1/2
Market lambs	1/5
Poultry—	Per 100 mature birds
Hens and ducks	20
Chickens raised for market	5
Turkeys and geese	40
Bees—	Per colony
Per colony	2 1/2
Field crops—	Per acre
Grain, Prairies	1
Our district	2
Hay, one cutting	1
Forage cuttings	2
Forage crop seed	2
Potatoes	10
Summerfallow: No additional allowance is made for summerfallow since it is already included in day's work per crop acre.

Total days of productive labor required on farm for each farmer is 300 days. Where young people help with light chores additional days may be added as to age and amount of help they can do. Young people over 21 years are counted as full grown adults and an additional 300 days work is expected of them.

Just for fun check over your farm's operation and see whether your farm scales up to these requirements and if it doesn't maybe you can plan a full year's program. Maybe you are working too much already. It's worth checking over just for fun.

Former Mine Partner Living In Belgium

Henry Paephe has forsaken the province of broad wheat lands, rich oil fields, unlimited coal resources, beautiful mountain scenery and 40 below zero winter weather. The former part-owner of Egg Lake Coal mine at Morinville has come back to live in Belgium.

He left a nearly-new 1950 Pontiac car unused in the garage at the mine, but meanwhile has another new car to drive around in Belgium.

There are 28 employees now at the coal mine four miles north of Morinville. E. Baker is back from Saskatoon, again office manager of the mine.

"Unavoidable" Was Term Used Re Ross Death

"Unavoidable" was the verdict offered by the Coroner's Jury concerning the death of Colin Ross, prominent St. Albert farmer.

From the evidence which was heard Friday afternoon in the city police station, the jury found that Mr. Ross had died, enroute to hospital from head and chest injuries when he had been struck by a three-ton truck, loaded with lumber. The truck was driven by Frank Banack of Round Hill. C. Paulson of Tofield, was a passenger in the Banack truck. They were the only witnesses to the actual accident.

Mr. Ross, son of Neil Ross, Sr., an early settler in the district, and a brother of Neil Ross, Jr., mayor of St. Albert, died from injuries suffered when he was struck by a south-bound truck on highway No. 2 about two miles north of St. Albert.

Banack and Paulson testified that they saw a man standing in the middle of the road waving his arm, as if to stop the truck. Banack said he tried to apply his brakes but found them useless on the icy-covered road. He swerved to the left as the man in the road appeared to slip and fall in a last-minute effort to get out of the truck's path. He was struck by the right front bumper of the truck.

According to friends, Mr. Ross had been visiting a farm home just off the highway. When about to leave, he found his car would not start and a call was sent in to St. Albert for a tow truck. As he was waiting for the truck, it is believed Mr. Ross went out on to the highway to try to stop a south-bound vehicle for assistance.

Banack said he had to stop his truck by gear-ing down and then he and Paulson ran back and found the man lying on the road. About the same time, a panel truck driven by Alfred Martell of Medicine Hat stopped at the scene and Banack's were placed over the injured man. He was found to be still alive and was placed in Martell's truck for transportation to a doctor.

DEAD ON ARRIVAL

Martell said they drove to a doctor's home in St. Albert and failing to find the doctor home they reached him by telephone and were advised to proceed to the General Hospital in Edmonton where he would meet them. Mr. Ross was pronounced dead on arrival.

Corroboration as to the slippery condition of the highway came from Const. K. E. Riley of the RCMP at St. Albert who was called to the accident scene.

Banack and Paulson said that the truck was travelling at about 35 miles per hour and that the men appeared on the road about 50 or 60 feet in front of the truck. The vehicle, Banack said, was a 1951 model, in good condition with brakes and lights working perfectly. In their verdict the jury stated "that in view of the evidence Ross was in the middle of the highway, and the road was icy, that it was quick and that Banack made every effort to avert the accident, we find the accident unavoidable."

Needlecraft News

by Pauline Roy

IF YOU ARE the smart woman or girl who makes her own clothes, you are probably continually on the alert for new facts that will help you make your dressmaking more professional and satisfactory. With this in mind we can talk a little about cutting some fabrics that seem to confuse some home sewers.

Materials With Nap

When you look on the pattern envelope-back, you will notice that the material requirements are figured "with nap" and "without nap." Perhaps you don't know exactly what this means. A fabric with nap can be one of several types. Velvet belongs to this family which means that all pieces must be cut with the nap going in an upward direction to reflect the darker, richer sheen. Broadcloth and camel's hair have pile surfaces and should be cut with the pile, or long hairs, going down. Shiny surfaces, like satins, must be cut in one direction since they tend to reflect different shades if cut reversely. These materials are "nap fabrics," and because of the specific layout requirements, you will need a little more yardage. A fabric "without nap" is either plain in color and weave, or maintains an all-over print which would be equally effective if the pattern sections were reversed while cutting.

Velveteen Touches

If there is a simple black dress in your closet that you have grown to love, here's an idea to increase its life-span. Pert collar and matching belt with pocket attached, made of velveteen and felt, will change its appearance so much that even you will hardly recognize it. They're easy to make and detachable so that you can wear them with several dresses. You can make them in a gay bright color with black felt trimming, or if you wish to wear them with a dark green dress, you can use dark green felt and choose your velveteen in a suitable contrasting color.

If you wish to make this VELVETEEN COLLAR AND BELT POCKET, and would like a direction leaflet which includes sewing directions and cutting diagrams, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to this paper and ask for Leaflet No. E-2420.

'Minnie The Moocher' Leads Trumpeter Swans

TERRACE, B.C. — (BUP)—A band of rare trumpeter swans, led by "Minnie the Moocher," has returned to LakElse 12 miles south of here for the second winter in a row.

The trumpeters numbered 18 last year, but the flock has not settled for the winter to permit an accurate census of their increase.

At one time, the trumpeter swan was perilously close to extinction, but has been making a game comeback in recent years. Two were given to Princess Elizabeth during her Canadian tour.

The B.C. game department already has allocated four bags of barley for the LakElse flock and local conservationists will see that they get regular rations.

Last winter the swans became very tame under the leadership of a despotic old female, nicknamed "Minnie the Moocher." She was greedy and cross with members of the flock, bullying the younger birds.

On one occasion she drove a young swan out onto the ice of LakElse and refused to let him wake.

come ashore for chow until he collapsed from hunger. A game protector rescued the bird and nursed it back to health.

But with humans Minnie was a bird of another feather. She could beg for food with all the tail-wagging enthusiasm of a puppy, and uttered plaintive honks while gobbling grain to let everyone know she didn't think she was getting her share.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

A reader writes that he has been engaged to a girl for a year and a half and expected to marry her this year. She went off to live with her sister and has written him that she has changed her mind. He wants to know what he can do to get her back.

Well, the only thing I can suggest is for him to go and see her and try to find out why she has changed her mind. It may be that she is one of those girls who likes the fellow that is present and not the one who is away. If she has fallen in love with some one else, there is very little he can do about it.

A girl who is in High School writes that she is in love with her best friend's boy friend and that he is in love with her. Now her friend is angry with her.

Personally, I think it is a low trick to use your friendship with another girl to snatch her boy friend away. The honorable thing to have done, if you saw yourself falling in love with him, would be to stay away from him as much as possible. However, if the two of you fell in love with each other and you had not done anything to bring this about, it would be something you couldn't help. But I imagine that your best friend would always feel that you had treated her very shabbily.

LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I have been reading so much about teen agers using narcotics that I became worried and the mothers of our school children had a survey made. We found that there was no problem here.

We wondered whether our small town was unusual or whether this was the case in most of the less populated places.

MOTHER.

Answer:

The problem of teenagers using narcotics is mainly one for the larger cities in the United States. Of course, a thing like that will spread to Canada if left unchecked and the officials of these larger places should accept the responsibility for this dangerous situation and get to work and put away these peddlers of vice.

The city of Los Angeles has made the effort to do just this by stricter law enforcement and I understand that the officials there have been very successful.

Three-fourths of the young drug addicts come from metropolitan areas and from homes that are broken, or worse. That, of course, doesn't mean that there are not exceptions for some of these youngsters do come from decent homes.

Children who live in good homes and have interested and loving parents are taught the dangers of such habits and even though they begin on a dare or because of association with bad companions, their parents will probably discover the trouble before the case becomes a hopeless one.

More power to women who think enough of their children to try and find out if there is any reason to be worried. An ounce of prevention, you know, is worth a pound of cure.

LOUISA.

Boeing B-47 Stratojet bomber (foreground) and the North American F-86 Sabrejet fighter are capable of speeds exceeding 600 miles per hour and are listed among the world's fastest planes.

Morinville Lions Club Bulletin

Meeting of January 14

This was the first meeting of 1952. Mr. Doyle of the Canadian Red Cross was guest speaker. Tail Twister Pete was right on the job.

St. Albert Charter Night, Jan. 29

Morinville Lions Club is the sponsoring club of the newly-formed St. Albert Club. Several members have attended two of St. Albert's regular meetings, and the indications are that St. Albert is away to a good start.

Charter Night is on January 29, and members are more or less obligated to try and get a 100 per cent turnout at the Club Meets on that night. The affair is slated to start at 6:30 p.m. and St. Albert Club promises that their Charter Night will have all the trimmings to make this one of "the" social affairs of the season.

Lion President asks that you get your Lions caps out of the moth-halls and use them on Jan. 29, and to all other Lions Club activities.

It is worthwhile noting that while St. Albert has not, as yet, received their charter, nevertheless, they have undertaken a most laudable and useful activity. The club is responsible for the inauguration of a School Safety Patrol. The value of this activity can never be underestimated.

Highlights of Recent Activities

The Boxing Day dance was a most overwhelming success, despite the weather.

A special committee consisting of Lion President Art, Lions Wife and Alex distributed 11 hampers to those in need.

On Jan. 20 there will also be a few Lions visiting the convent at St. Albert and they will distribute smokes and candies to the old folks. This will be done in conjunction with a concert that the Morinville High School students will put on there.

Melvin Jones' Birthday Program

It is still not too late to bring in that new member you may have in mind.

Again, the procedure is repeated: If you think your friend will make a suitable and good member, submit his name to Lion Peter Gibesault, chairman of the membership committee, without mentioning it to the party concerned. If passed by the committee the name then comes before the directors, and if approved, then your friend will be invited to membership. Do this now and invite your friend to St. Albert Charter Night.

Juvenile Hockey
The team has played five games, losing only one. The team shows very good promise and will be swinging into high gear before entering the provincial playdowns. Dues are due now!

Teachers Versus Students

BARRHEAD—Barrhead school teachers and pupils used last Friday afternoon for a period of relaxation.

The music side of the large auditorium was devoted to special entertainment, while the teaching staff challenged the older students to a fast-moving basketball game on the other side. Believe it or not, the teachers took an early lead in scoring and soon showed that they weren't nearly as stiff as some of the grade 11 and 12 students expected. Indeed, one older member of the staff proved so active that he was taken out of the game for employing rough tactics. The final score was 16 to 5 in favor of the teachers and staff.

The teachers' team consisted of Miss Sherridan, Miss Thurston, Mrs. Leviero, Mr. Bujee (who was later replaced by Mr. Connolly), and Mr. Kurylo. Due to the beating the students suffered, names will not be mentioned.

Man of Means

Barely had he paid off the mortgage on his house when he mortgaged it again by buy a new car. Then he went to a loan broker to borrow money on the car so that he could build a garage.

"If I do make this loan," asked the broker, "how will you buy gas for the car?"

"It seems to me," the man replied in dignified tones, "that if a fellow owns his own house, car and garage he should be able to get credit for gas."

"Then," said Stuart, "it was not like me."

It was all too mysterious. The youngster gave up. "I don't know," he replied.
